ORDER ACCEPTING FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE, AND DENYING CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY

The United States Magistrate Judge made findings, conclusions and a recommendation in this case. Both Petitioner and Respondent filed objections, and the District Court has made a de novo review of those portions of the proposed findings and recommendation to which objection was made. Petitioner makes several objections, each of which is baseless, and are accordingly overruled. Respondent objects that the Magistrate Judge did not address Respondent's argument that Petitioner's first three grounds for relief were procedurally defaulted, instead denying the petition on the merits. (Respt.'s Objs. 1). However, while the issue of whether a Petitioner has procedurally defaulted certain claims "should ordinarily be considered first," courts need not do so "invariably," especially when judicial economy might counsel otherwise. Lambrix v. Singletary, 520 U.S. 518, 525 (1997); Busby v. Dretke, 359 F.3d 708, 720 (5th Cir. 2004) (quoting Lambrix, 520 U.S. at 525); Kelly v. Quarterman, 273 F. App'x 261, 364(5th Cir. 2008) (citing Busby, 359 F.3d at 720). The Magistrate Judge determined that denial on the merits was the most appropriate course in the instant case, and the Court sees no reason to separately determine the procedural default issue when it is neither necessary or advisable to do so. Accordingly, Respondent's Objections are overruled, and the Court ACCEPTS the Findings, Conclusions and Recommendation of the United States Magistrate Judge.

Considering the record in this case and pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 22(b), Rule 11(a) of the Rules Governing §§ 2254 and 2255 proceedings, and 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c), the Court DENIES a certificate of appealability. The Court adopts and incorporates by reference the Magistrate Judge's Findings, Conclusions and Recommendation filed in this case in support of its finding that the petitioner has failed to show (1) that reasonable jurists would find this Court's "assessment of the constitutional claims debatable or wrong," or (2) that reasonable jurists would find "it debatable whether the petition states a valid claim of the denial of a constitutional right" and "debatable whether [this Court] was correct in its procedural ruling." Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473, 484 (2000).<sup>1</sup>

In the event, the petitioner will file a notice of appeal, the court notes that

- ( ) the petitioner will proceed in forma pauperis on appeal.
- ( X ) the petitioner will need to pay the $455.00 appellate filing fee or submit a motion to proceed in forma pauperis.

SO ORDERED.

(a) Certificate of Appealability. The district court must issue or deny a certificate of appealability when it enters a final order adverse to the applicant. Before entering the final order, the court may direct the parties to submit arguments on whether a certificate should issue. If the court issues a certificate, the court must state the specific issue or issues that satisfy the showing required by 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2). If the court denies a certificate, the parties may not appeal the denial but may seek a certificate from the court of appeals under Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 22. A motion to reconsider a denial does not extend the time to appeal.

(b) Time to Appeal. Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 4(a) governs the time to appeal an order entered under these rules. A timely notice of appeal must be filed even if the district court issues a certificate of appealability.

SIGNED on this 26th day of April, 2011.
